THE CHARLEROI MAIL

VOL. XVIII. NO. 42. CHARLEROI, WASHINGTON CO., FRIDAY, AUGUST 3, 1917. ONE CENT

MANY ALIENS ARE SAID TO HAVE GIVEN WRONG ADDRESS

At Least 40 per cent of Them in Donora Gave Fictitious homes

DRASTIC ACTION MAY BE TAKEN

If reports coming from Donora are true a number of aliens in that borough are likely to be haled before federal authorities for giving fictitious addrsses.

This fact developed this week, when notices were sent out by the exmption board of the Fifth district to all men who had registered. In attempting to deliver many of the notices, the carriers found no such numbers as given by the party who had registered, vacant lots in many instances being designated as the place of habitation of the registration. It is estimated that 40 per cent of the aliens in Donora gave wrong addresses, and it may be that many of them will not receive the notices intended for them.

The exemption board has not yet outlined a plan of action, but something will be done in order to bring these recalcitrants to a realization of their duties. A measure is pending in the House at Washington now which would bar forever from citizenship any alien who claims exemption from army duty because he is not a citizen, while others would be debarred from coming into the country. The question of alien exemption is a serious one, and is causing a great deal of comment, particularly in large industrial centers, where the citizenship is compelled to bear the burden of the man who demands exemption because he is an alien.

"WATER BABES" GIVE GOOD EXHIBITION

A large number of people attended the exhibition given by the "Water Babes" of Brownsville at the Charleroi bathing beach Thursday afternoon. The program announced last week was carried out and the various "stunts" of the performers were highly appreciated by those who witnessed the exhibition from the bank. The concluding number was swimming the river by two of the younger members of the entertainers, a feat they accomplished in good time.

Following the water exhibition a baseball game was staged at the park between the Steel Products team and the Charleroi Independent, which resulted in a victory for the Products by a score of 3 to 2. The game was well played, and furnished plenty of entertainment for the spectators.

LIEUT. DAY TRANSFERRED FROM MACHINE GUN COMPANY

Lieutenant John W. Day has been transferred from the Machine Gun company of the Tenth Regiment, to Company A, to take the place made vacant by the promotion of Lieut. Walter Scott to be battalion adjutant. The change was made by Col. Coulter oi Wednesday, and is one that meets with hearty approval on the part of members of Company A.

It is intimated that he deparure of thee troops for the south may be delayed until about the middle of the month, because the cantonment at Augusta, Ga., will not be ready to receive troops before that time. The people of Augusta are making great preparations to receive the Pennsylvania troops, and will put forth every endeavor to make the stay of the boys et that place as pleasant as possible.

BLAINE TIPPLE THIRD ONE LOST

Diamond Coal Company is Unfortunate in the Way of Fires

LOSS HAS BEEN QUITE HEAVY

The tiple of the Blaine mine, which was destroyed by fire Thursday afternoon, was the third structure of the kind lost by the Diamond Coal and Coke Company within the past few years. The first tiple the company lost was the Chewton mine, a short distance above West Brownsville, in the fifth pool. The second was at the Huston Run mine, a short distance below Courtney and yesterday the third disaster of the kind in the loss of the Blaine mine.

Previous to that time the company had lost a big store building at West Brownsville, while not many months ago the tipple of the Peoples Coal company at Brownsville, recently taken over by the Diamond company was damaged by fire. In addition a stable at the Blaine mine was destroyed by fire several months ago. In the way of fires the Diamond company has been peculiarly unfortunate.

THOSE WHO ARE CALLED FOR EXAMINATION ON THURSDAY

A new development in delivering notices to registrants at Donora, and which came to light on Wednesday and Thursday, may cause the exemption board in this district some trouble. Many of the aliens registered cannot be found and their cards are being returned to the hadquarters endorsed "can't find," "no such address,' 'etc. Whether this will mean the calling of an additional number of men or not has not yet been determined. It looks as if certain of those who are of the required age are making efforts to keep away from the Board, which is apt to cause trouble for all who are apprehended. GREAT ASSIST IN COACHING

Dr. Austen Stahlman to Help in Training Local High School Team

WAS MEMBER OF PITT TEAM

Dr. H. Austin Stahlman a graduate of the University of Pittsburg, will assist Prof. Grimm the coming fall in coaching the Charleroi high school football team. Dr. Stahlman was a former high school student and took a prominent part in athletics. While in Pitt he was on the football and basketball teams, winning out by sheer merit, and he will bring to his coaching activities a great score of knowledge be learned under "Pop" Warner, the coach of the Pitt eleven. Dr. Stahlman will not only assist in coaching the foot ball evelen, but will likewise give instruction to the basket ball team, as well as acting in an advisory capacity to the track team next spring.

The outlook for foot ball this coming season is said to be particularly bright for the Charleroi team, providing all of the high school boys return to school which it is expected they will do. Practice for members of the foot ball team will begin with the opening of school and when the season opens the eleven is expected to be in good shape for a hard season with good prospects of being returned champions of the country.

BEGIN WORK OF ERECTION OF NEW TIPPLE AT COAL BLUFF

The Pittsburgh Coal Company has begun work on the erection of a new tiple to take the place of the one destroyed by fire Monday night at the Coal Bluff mine. It is said the new structure will be modern in every respect, which will permit the coal to be handled economically. The Pittsburgh Coal company owns a large coal acreage adjacent to the Coal Bluff mine, which makes it advisible to rebuild the tipple.

UNTIL FURTHER NOTICE CONSERVE THE WATER SUPPLY

Owing to boiler trouble the Tri-Cities Water company is experiencing considerable difficulty in maintaining the water supply. We urge upon all our consumers to be as saving as possible with the water until we get in better shape, which we hope will be within the next few days. Request has been made to the borough to use no water for street purposes until the situation is relieved.. All mills and other industries are asked to give this grave situation the widest co-operation.

THE ALIEN SLACKER

The alien in America at the present time is in an undesirable position. True he is exempt from draft to serve in the army, but the feeling against him is becoming so bitter that it need not be surprising if Congress pass some measure to make him eligible for duty in the ranks of the army.

In Pittsburg many young men in the eligible list have claimed exemption, not caring to give up good jobs to enter the army, while those who have no obligatins toward the government so far as a citizen is concerned can step in and get good paying positions. The United States Senate has already passed a resolution, favoring negotiations with foreign countries which would permit this country to enlist these slackers, and compel them to assist in maintaining the liberty and the institutions of which they are now the beneficaries.

It is a phase of a situation quite new in diplomatic affairs, but it will more than likely be settled in a manner satisfactory to the citizens of the country.

BY THE WATE ROUTE

Water transportation is gradually coming into its own. Not only is this fact seen with greater force on the Monongahela river, but reports from other districts in the Unied States indicate a revival in steamboating and water carrying, until today steamers [illegible] at a [illegible] look longingly [illegible] ever as a means of receiving supplies of fuel ,realizing that within a very short time they must have such facilities if they wish to keep pace with the industrial race. The Steel Corporation will soon have a large fleet of steamers and barges in operation in the valley, as it would be impossible to take care of their coal shipments by rail to provide for their various industries.

The same story comes from the Mississippi valley. Just now a fleet of steel barges with a cargo of 6,000 tons of coal is on the way from St. Louis to St. Paul. It will take from 7 to 10 days to make the trip, but the craft will be returned loaded with iron ore, thus making it doubly profitable.

Future generations may seriously wonder why the Lake Erie and Ohio River ship canal was never constructed. This project has been severely, and at times viciously criticised, but a great majority of the men who have given it time and attention and serious thought, believe in it, and are of the opinion that it will ultimately be a reality.

Tolstoy predicted that out of the north would come the great hero of the great war. Will his name prove to be Kerenesky? The future alone can tell, but Kerenesky has undoubtedly undertaken the task of a hero and almost of a superman, for his child-like people are continually tempted by fools at home and misled into traps set by cunning Teutonic agents from abroad.

Unless the amateur gardener has done his work himself without hiring help he has probably gained little financially even in these times of high prices, but the public generally has gained by the increased stock of food. The estimated value of this season's produce of back yards and vacant lots is placed at no less a figure than $350,000,000—a response to the President's appeal that was well worth while.

The country generally has welcomed the end of both Goethals and Denman and the complete reorganization of the Shipping Board. General Goethals is secure in his fame as a canal builder, but there was something radically wrong in the Shipping Board of [illegible] he has the head, a disturbance perhaps even greater than appeared on the surface and a new start with new men seemed to be teh only solution. Now let us have ships instead of interminable disputes

YOUR MENTAL MACHINE.

Shut Off Its Power at Night After a Day's Hard Work.

It is a great thing to learn to shut off the mental steam when you quit work. What would you think of a factory manager who would leave all of his power turned on after the operators and left the factory, the delicate machinery running everywhere, pounding itself to pieces, grinding out its delicate bearings without producing anything?

Many of us do not turn off our mental power after we are through producing or creating for the day. We carry our business home, take it to bed with us, think, plan, worry and waste precious energy in all sorts of ways in superfluous thinking, foolish worrying that produces nothing, but grinds out the exquisite mental machinery and units it for the next day's work.

It is a great art to learn to shut off power when through our day's work, so that we can oil our mental machinery, refresh our minds and recuperate ourselves, so that we can go to the next day's work completely reinvigorated.

Many men seem to think that they are accomplishing something if they keep their minds on business even when not at work, but they really accomplish less than nothing because they are wasting precious mental energy, the power for concentration, the vigor, the focusing of the mind, which is imperative for creating purposes.—Orison Swett Marden.

THE DRY WALL.

A Beautiful Art In Stone Work That Is Passing Away.

In the American Magazine David Grayson says:

"In dry walls I think the old stonemason takes the greatest pride of all, for it is in the dry wall—I mean by that a wall laid without mortar—that the sheer art of the mason comes most into play.

"Any one can throw a wall together if he has mortar to make it stick, but a dry wall must stand out for what it is, built solid from the bottom up, each stone resting securely upon the one below it and braced and nested in by the sheer skill of the mason.

"The art of the dry wall is the ancient heritage of New England and speaks not only of the sincerity and the conscientiousness of the old Puritan spirit, but strikes the higher note of beauty.

"Many of the older walls I know are worth going far to see, for they exhibit a rare sense of form and proportion and are sometimes set in the landscape with a skill that only the master artist himself could exceed. Those old, hard wrought stone fences of the Burnham hills and Crewsbury, the best of them, were honestly built and built to last a thousand years.

"A beautiful art—and one that is passing away! It is the dry wall that stands of itself that the old stonemason loves best of all."

Crawling For Penance.

A Buddhist priest who has been eight years on the way to Lassa expects to arrive there eight years hence. He started from the northeast of Peking, and when met by an English missionary he had completed over 2,000 miles, about half his journey. He does not walk, he crawls, or, rather, he combines both methods. On his hands he wears boards; on his knees he wears pads. He lies full length upon the ground; then, getting up, walks to where his fingers had reached, then prostrates himself and measures afresh. He is under a self imposed vow and believes that if he crawls in this manner to the Tibetan holy city his sins will be forgiven and honors bestowed upon him by Buddha.—Exchange.

Hot Air as a Polisher.

Hot air is used for polishing. The articles to be treated are placed in a basket in a centrifugal machine driven at a very high speed and heated air is blown from a pipe through the basket. A high polish is thus produced very rapidly. Nickel plated articles that have become tarnished are made bright in a few minutes. Wet metal, fresh from the bath, needs no preliminary drying, for the current of air dries and polishes it at the same moment.

Best Time For Black Bass.

Early morning is the best for black bass on smaller streams, later part of the day till sundown very good. Cloudy days midday good, especially if cool. For fly fishing for bass early morning hours and an hour before dark best time. If full moon even later gets the big ones.—New York Sun.

Effort to Enlighten.

"Father," said the small boy, "what is an overt act?"

"My son, an overt act is something that either compels you to be so rude as to fight or to be so polite as to pretend that you didn't notice it."—Washington Star.

CONTRACT AWARDED FOR MONESSEN'S NEW BUILDING

The contract for Monessens' new federal building, to be located at the corner of Donner avenue and Seventh street, has been awarded to William Fessel & Co., of New York. Work is expected to begin immediately. The awarding of the contract for the erection of this building marks the ending of a campaign which begun in 1912, when Hon. Curtis H. Gregg represented the district. The government appropriated $90,000 for the building site, not over 20 per cent of which was to be expended for a site. A few thousand more than this was paid by the government for the property, leaving almost $70,000 available for the building.

SLIGHT AUTO ACCIDENT CAUSES SOME EXCITEMENT

A slight automobile accident on Fallowfield avenue about 9 o'clock last night caused quite a crowd of people to assemble in front of the Majestic theatre. The cars were running slowly at the time, and consequently the damage to one car was slight. The crash was heard by people in the theatre, many of whom left to ascertain the cause of the noise. As both drivers were good friends they agreed mutually to arrange for the damages and beyond securing the numbers the police took no action.

THE FAMILY LIFE.

Its Normal Restraints Make Mar the Master of Himself.

Modern assailants of the family suppose that by destroying it they can emancipate the individuals who compose it. In their delirium they conceive that the goal of life is the throwing off of all restraints, says William Roscoe Thayer in Harper's Magazine. Nothing could be more mistaken.

Normal restraints, those which build up a man and make him master of himself, are really the means by which he gets his true freedom. A little water in a boiler will generate enough steam to run a locomotive; the same volume on the ground is a puddle and no more. Discipline is the barrel of the gun, the rudder of the ship. The same law applies to human beings, and such an institution as the family has proved itself indispensable to the highest development of its members.

The man who thinks that by casting off its ties he gets a larger freedom deceives himself. At most he exchanges a higher plane for a lower and secures whatever privileges that descent implies. He retreats toward the plane of the beast, out of which it has been man's mission to rise and climb. He accepts the bondage of a more insistent selfishness.

AUSTRALIAN STORE TALK.

Their Term "Soft Goods" Means What We Call Dry Goods.

The United States is not the only country that takes liberties with the mother tongue. Australia speaks a language of trade that would not be understood elsewhere. For instance, "dry goods" is seldom heard, the Australian term being "soft goods." This generally applies only to piece goods, with some inclusion of ready to wear articles. The house or shop that carries articles for men's wear is known as a "mercery" and never as a haberdasher's. "Haberdashery" means what in America is covered by "notions."

The shop that handles women's wear is known as a "draper's," and the organization composed of members of the trade is called the Master Drapers' association. The "mantle" department is the one that handles women's coats and suits. The manager of the store or shop is known as director, and an "assistant" is a salesman.

"Warehouseman" does not mean a man who stores goods for others, but a wholesale dealer in "soft goods" and the like. The business of what is known in America as that of warehousemen is conducted in Australia by "bulk stores."—New York World.

Protects the Deer.

A kindly act on the part of a railway was the order of the Southern Pacific to its enginemen that when a deer is seen on the track at night the headlight shall be extinguished for a moment. More than a dozen deer were killed by trains in California in January. It has been discovered that when the headlight is extinguished, if only for a second, the animals are able to jump to safety. Otherwise the glare of the headlight dazes them so that they are run down before they can escape.—Outlook.

Two Cousins; Two Thrones.

"Nicholas Romanoff" of Russia and King George of England are cousins, look much alike and are probably not greatly different in intellectual ability. One is off the throne and the other is on because one throne was an anomalous survival of medievalism, while the other is an adaptation to modern democratic progress.—Springfield Republican.

ONE WAY TO WOO SLEEP.

Travel in Memory Some Road You Knew Well in Childhood.

It is hard for me to remember now that my knowledge of the sleepy road gained so many [illegible] only through the counsel of advice dropped by a wise, kind, weary old doctor, he shuffled at midnight down the corridor of the silent hospital, says the Atlantic Monthly.

Whatever was the errand of life or death that had called him in such haste, he had time to stop and give me a friendly word, although I, a stranger and incorrigibly sleepless patient, was sitting bolt upright among the pillows in defiance of all his orders and was staring wide eyed into the hot, [illegible] gaulfed dark.

"You think you are never going to be able to sleep again, don't you?" he observed. "Well, shut your eyes and do just what I tell you. Think of some road that you know well, a good long road that winds and turns and shows you water and woods and hills. Keep your eyes tight shut and travel along it in memory. Go as slowly as you can, recall every sight and sound and perfume as you pass by.

"I have such a road of my own, the one I used to walk to school when I was eight years old. I have started out on it a hundred times when I thought I could not sleep, but I never get very far. I come just about to the old stone bridge over Damon's creek or perhaps to the swimming hole, where the willows dip into the brown water, but I never reach the end."

FACING THE CAMERA.

Don't Dress Up and Don't Pose When Having a Picture Taken.

"There are many things I would like to say to the woman who intends having her picture taken," said a famous photographer the other day.

"Many women come to me and say: 'Of course you prefer taking actresses. They must have many advantages over those women who never have time but to give an occasional glance in their mirrors.' This is entirely a mistake. The conscious pose never makes a satisfactory portrait. I would say emphatically to the woman who goes to have her photograph made not to rehearse her pose and facial expression beforehand.

"I always find it difficult to impress on the woman coming to my studio that clothes and jewels are of absolutely no account in a photograph. If a woman comes to be photographed in the clothes she is used to wearing she will feel at ease and therefore look her best.

"One of the curses of our present day civilization is the ever changing question of fashion. How much more civilized were the Japanese, who realized that the kimono was perhaps the most perfect dress for women at all times—who only varied it with different brocades and girdles. The photograph that concerns itself with clothes is soon out of fashion, and no matter how good a likeness of the face has been obtained, the picture is grotesque in a few years because the clothes are passe."

The Professor Worried.

The absent minded professor from the university town was in Indianapolis attending a convention. While in the city he took a tour of the larger department stores. In one of them he was much perplexed.

He read the sign over the door of the elevator:

"This car express to fifth and sixth floors. Up only."

Absently he read the sign again. Then the car door opened.

"I would like to know," he asked the elevator boy, "if this elevator goes only up, how on earth did you get down here?"

The elevator boy grinned, frowned, scrutinized the man closely and then said in a dignified voice, "Oh, I just came down."—Indianapolis News.

Putting the Cat Out at Night.

The practice of turning the cat out of doors at night is as cruel as it is unnecessary. No animal is fonder of warmth and comfort, and the pet's happiness certainly is not increased by a night spent outside in cold and dampness.

If as much energy was exhausted in keeping the cat indoors as too often is expended in putting her out, how great would be the boon to human nerves and unfortunate wild things! All felines are normally nocturnal, and it is at night, if ever, that a curb on their activities is needed.—Lee S. Crandall, in "Pets."

True Economy.

There are great joys in practicing true economy in the right spirit. True economy, you see, is not abstinence from necessary things—not at all. The joys of true economy are for those who make the most of what they have; who, finding what may be theirs, proceed to the extraction of the greatest benefit from what is within reach.

Too Much Flirting.

First Co-ed—Why, Doris, how tired your eyes look!

Tired One—Yes, my dear; I rolled them too much this evening.—Syracuse Orange Peel.

No Time For Her.

Physician—Your case is such, madam, that time alone will effect a cure.

Mrs. Randall—Then it is hopeless, for I never have even five minutes.—Life.

MRS. CUMMINGS WAS NEARLY WILD FROM SLEEP LOSS

But this and Other Ills Surrendered To Nerv-Worth

This eloquent endorsement was given not long ago to the Nerv-Worth druggists at Morgantown, W. Va.

"Suffered from a general nervous breakdown. Could not sleep night or day. My circulation often became numb. At times I was nearly wild from loss of sleep and nervous. My daughter induced me to try Nerv-Worth. So far I have taken two bottles. Sleeplessness and nervousness are now things of the past. I feel like a re-created person. I certainly do want to pass the good news along as other suffering as I did may be helped. It is surely a miracle-working remedy."

DOWN AND OUT INSURANCE AGENT COMES BACK

HE IS NOW A LIVE WIRE

For a long time one of our best local Insurance men had been steadily going down hill, losing his ambition, disheartened, with no interest in existence, worried, nervous, no appetite.

His family and friends were much worried. Doctors whom he consulted advised rest and drugs, both of which he tried but with no beneficial effects.

Things were pretty discouraging until the Division Superintendent struck town and looked him up.

The condition was plain enough, "Old Pal" he said, "Ive got your number sure, what you need and need badly and lots of it is good old Iron and Phosphate, your body is just craving for it. I can spot the trouble a block off, that pale anemic skin, tired sunken dull eyes, worried nervous look, fagged and over-worked brain, all show the exhausted blood. "Take my advice. get a box of Phosphated Iron at once and be a live one again. Wasn't I in the same boat myself a year ago? Say, it took right hold and you could fairly see it putting new life and ginger in me from the first day. I tell you, I know."

The agent's wife made a bee line to the nearest Drug Store and got a box and after one week's treatment you would not recognize the man. He had full red cheeks, his body and mind were active and he was full of the joy of life in fact his complete rejuvenation was marvelous.

Back on the job everything seemed to come his way. Business came easy and was a pleasure, he was so full of life and good spirits. The days were short, where before they had dragged like weeks. His restoration was complete.

This is only on of the many cases that you can find in our own town. Phosphated Iron never fails to help any case of this type for by feeding the exhausted circulation with its normal food, namely, Iron and Phosphates you strengthen the nerves, relieve restlessness, restore the normal functions and that heritage of health which is yours by right and without which you are a burden to yourself and family. Try it today. Don't wait.

Special Notice—To insure dealers and their patients getting genuine Phosphated Iron we put up in capsules only, so do not allow dealers to substitute any pills or tablets.

FILLING OUT A CHECK.

It Is a Good Rule Always to Write the Stub First.

"In a big store a woman was paying with a check for some goods she had just bought, and she was carefully filling in the stub of her check book first. "Oh, don't stop for that!" urged her shopping companion, who was in a hurry. "You can do that when you get home."

Unmoved, the careful woman finished the stub with special care, then wrote the check, gave it to the salesman and said to her impatient friend: "Before I was married I took care of some of my father's accounts. The first time he ever asked me to fill out a set of blank checks for him so he could sign them he told me: 'One rule you must always observe—write the stub first. Make a vow to yourself like unto the vow of Jephthah, that you will never write a check until the stub is filled. If for any reason you should fail later to write the check it would be a simple matter to cancel the stub, but if you write a check and leave the stub blank you open the door to a hundred chances of mistake. No one's memory can be trusted on that subject. Never try to trust yours. Let the law of 'the stub first' be to you as the law of the Medes and the Persians.' I have always found it perfectly easy to follow that rule, and that is one reason I have a bank account today. My husband is never afraid I will make him any trouble with it."

HEED BAD ODORS.

They May Warn You of Places Where Disease Germs Lurk.

Even a bad odor has its uses. Scientists say that the offensive smell which comes from decaying and disease breeding matter is in reality one of nature's measures of preparedness and of prevention.

Offensive odors indirectly prevent the spread of epidemics by calling attention to the breeding place of the disease. They give warning that something is wrong, and they persist in this warning by becoming more and more offensive until the wrong is righted.

The odor does not convey the germ or communicate the disease, because in most cases direct contact is necessary to do this, or the infection is communicated by some substance taken into or brought in contact with the body. But it does tell where the disease exists or is likely to exist. It also gives warning of tainted or unfit food, as the nose is intended by nature to be one of man's chief allies in the fight for health.

Some have even gone so far as to state that mothers should not discourage or forbid children smelling their food before they eat it. The tendency to do this is said to be a natural one. The nose is not placed above the mouth by accident. It was designed in primitive man as a guidepost for his stomach, and it is still a good guide.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Looking Glass in Fiction.

All nations have shown by their stories how the looking glass is regarded as ministering to vanity. The ancient Greeks depicted Venus with a mirror and even described her chamber as lined all over with mirrors, so that whichever way her eyes turned she could behold her beautiful self. But Minerva never used a mirror. Pass to West Africa and we find a native story which begins with a magic mirror that possessed the power of speech and always said, "Mistress, there is none," when its owner, a woman called Maria, asked it, "My mirror, is there any other beautiful woman like myself?" But one day Maria's daughter entered the forbidden room where it was kept, asked a similar question and got a similar answer. A tale of maternal jealousy and vengeance follows.—London Spectator.

Sunlight and Germs.

Here is an instructive experiment made by scientists to show the effects of sunlight. Some germs of the terrible disease anthrax were sown on two plates of gelatin, and while one plate was kept in the dark the other was placed in the sunlight. The germs grew, and at the end of ten minutes there were 360 colonies or groups in the sunshine plate and 400 colonies in the dark plate.

One hour later the result was: In the sunshine plate, none; in the dark plate, 2,520. No disease germ thrives in sunlight.

ANNOYING SYMPTOMS

How Heat Flashes, Dizzy Spells and other Bad Feelings at Change of Life may be Relieved.

Richmond, Va.—"After taking seven bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I feel like a new woman. I always had a headache during the Change of Life and was also troubled with other bad feelings common at that time—dizzy spells, nervous feelings and heat flashes. Now I am in better health than I ever was and recommend your remedies to all my friends."—Mrs. LENA WYNN, 2812 E. O Street, Richmond, Va.

While Change of Life is a most critical period of a woman's existence, the annoying symptoms which accompany it may be controlled, and normal health restored by the timely use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Such warning symptoms are a sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, backaches, dread of impending evil, timidity, sounds in the ears, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness and dizziness.

COCONUT LOAF CAKE

½ cupful of Baker's Fresh Grated Coconut; ½ cupful of butter; 1 cupful of granulated sugar; 2 eggs; ½ cupful of coconut milk; 2 cupfuls of flour; 2 level teaspoonfuls of baking powder.

Cream butter and sugar until light; add well-mixed yolks of eggs, coconut milk, half the sifted flour and baking powder, the coconut which has been pressed dry in fruit press or cheesecloth. Beat the whites of eggs until light; fold in and add the rest of flour. Place on bottom rack in moderate oven; bake 45 minutes. Try with darning needle. If smooth, cake is done; if not, bake five to eight minutes longer. It is hard to give exact time to bake, as there is a difference in ovens.

The cake will keep a week (if kept under lock and key); in fact, it is better in three or four days than when first baked.
